

THE FIFTH FOX

A workshop of clever foxes made a fifth — a fox that told tales.

Its tales were so vivid the whole forest gathered to listen.

Tales this good must be dangerous, declared the Eagle King.

Eighteen days of silence, and the forest grew dull.

When the fox returned, its first tale was the story of its silence.

*Silence a storyteller,
and you only write its best chapter.*